Wright inquiry is halted

The Billy Wright inquiry has been dramatically halted.

The request to adjourn proceedings was made by Counsel for the inquiry this morning.

It was adjourned after the Crown Solicitors Office withdrew legal representation from Duncan McLaughlin, the former Governor of Maghaberry Prison.

It is understood Mr McLaughlin produced new documentation to his legal representatives yesterday afternoon.

The information has been described as significant and may lead to the recall of witnesses who have already given evidence.

The inquiry chairman Lord MacLean said the new information will be fully investigated.

Counsel for the Wright family said the development was outrageous. The hearing is due to resume on Wednesday.
