Motion to discuss Quinn murder

The murder of County Armagh man Paul Quinn is expected to be the subject of a debate at the Northern Ireland Assembly.

Mr Quinn, 21, was beaten to death in October at farm outbuildings in County Monaghan in the Irish Republic.

Police believe Irish Republican Army (IRA) members were part of the gang but have not linked the killing to any command of the organisation. Sinn Fein has denied any republican involvement.

The family of Mr Quinn are to meet with Fine Gael party leader Enda Kenny in Castleblayney, Co Monaghan, later today. His parents Stephen and Briega are expected to discuss the cross-border police hunt for the killers.

Social, Democratic and Labour Party (SDLP) Assembly member Dominic Bradley has submitted a motion for consideration by the Assembly and hopes it will be heard before the end of the month.
