Plight of the Disappeared

TUESDAY

Families of the Disappeared tell their stories

This week UTV's Vicki Hawthorne will be reporting on the plight of five families of the Disappeared.

In recent weeks and months, the forensic experts now involved with the search for the last resting place of the Disappeared have been carrying out detailed surveys of the land where many of the victims are believed to be buried.

It is understood the tests could lead to fresh digs in the spring. But the families of the disappeared say the experts still need more information to help them find their loved ones.

Vicki Hawthorne has been speaking to five of those families. We will be running the interviews each night this week both on UTV Live and here at u.tv

Tonight, the wife and daughter of Charlie Armstrong tell their story.

Unlike many of the families of the Disappeared, the IRA has never admitted killing Mr Armstrong.

Kathleen and her daughter are absolutely sure Charlie was not involved in any paramilitary activity.

They believe his death was not ordered by the IRA and that he was killed by accident.
