DUP VOICING THE NEEDS OF VICTIMS - DR PAISLEY

The DUP Leader Dr Ian Paisley MP MLA has met with the South Armagh victims' group SAVER/NAVER to discuss a wide range of issues affecting the innocent victims of the Troubles. Commenting after the meeting SAVER/NAVER chairperson, Mrs Reatha Hassan OBE, Dr Paisley said,

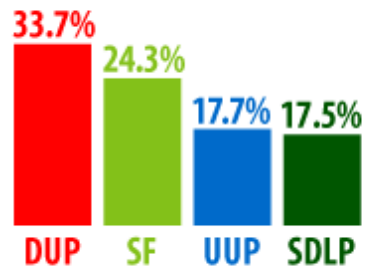

"We had a very useful meeting where we discussed a wide range of issues relating to victims' groups and also issues which need to be addressed to assist victims in dealing with the past.

The DUP is committed to working for the innocent victims of the Troubles. For too long their needs were neglected while the perpetrators of terrorism received significant amounts of government support.

In the short number of years since the DUP became the largest unionist party we have prioritised the needs of victims and have sought to achieve a fair deal for their cause.

This has been based on ensuring that there are suitable support mechanisms within reach of victims. The Troubles have left a deep scare on many lives and this must be addressed. The widow and fatherless child should be central to all we do in Stormont. We will continue to deliver for the innocent victims and the additional money which is now in place for the needs of victims will be used first and foremost to provide real and meaningful services to victims sector."
